

MORE WILDWOOD DAYS

Grand Marshal Eldon Whitehead brought some family members in the car, driven by Nick and Decho Angeloff.

The annual bocce tournament was part of the tradition, along with the Scotia Volunteer Fire Department duck race, which netted approximately $2,000 for the department and brought prizes to many, sponsored by area businesses and individuals.

Party Animals was the name of the booth selling puppets, among many new and traditional vendors who brought food, clothing and other items to town.

Children got the chance to ride soap-box derby cars sponsored by area businesses and organizations during the weekend as well as Wednesday night.

Wildwood Days Brings Annual Fun to Community

The new LED sign on Wildwood Avenue was running in time to announce Wildwood Days.

Clowns from the Aahmes Redshrine Club relax before making their traditional appearance, capturing the trophy for best organizational entry in the annual parade. Trophies were sponsored by Aqua Dam.

Bill, Corinna and Friends perform traditional music Saturday afternoon at fireman's park.

The barbeque pit was lit Saturday in preparation for Sunday's Barbeque.

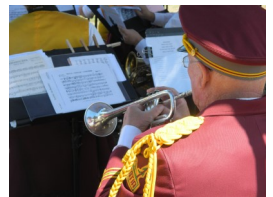

the parade earlier that day, garnering a trophy donated by Aqua Dam.

The Dixie Gators performed toe-tapping Dixieland music Saturday afternoon as well as winning the top overall float in

The Friends of the Library group reports a record sale of books, involving approximately 100 cartons full of donated materials, many from the estate of Phil Angeloff, at the annual book sale.

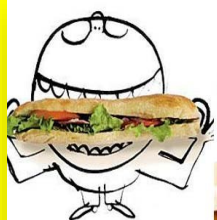

Scotia Band performed during the traditional fire department barbeque Sunday, preceding the silent auction.

Mary Burns once again produced a car show that attracted crowds, and many vehicles.

District Attorney Maggie Fleming rode in a fire truck at the head of the parade. County Supervisor Estelle Fennell was again the emcee of the event.
